WINEMAKER'S NOTES

Chardonnay is one of the most malleable white wine varieties. Solely dependent on a winemaker's preference, it can be bright and fruity, buttery and oaky, or somewhere in between. Because of this, it's often referred to as a "Winemaker's wine." Viognier, on the other hand carries all of its nuance and personality with it from the vineyard, through fermentation and into the bottle. Our concept of Wingspan White is to craft these very different white wine grapes into a blend that accentuates their positive characteristics. Our blend of locally sourced Chardonnay and Viognier allows the tropical fruit characteristics of ripe Viognier to support the bright acidity and lithe mouthfeel of Chardonnay to create a remarkable blend.
